

LANSING COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Would you like to study English from your home?

Online Courses for Non-native Speakers of English

ESOL* 119 (4 credits) Academic Communication Skills	ESOL* 120 (4 credits) Academic Reading Skills	WRIT 117 (4 credits) Writing Preparation	WRIT118 (3 credits) Personal Writing
Course Description:                      Designed for pre-college level ESOL students. Focus on listening, effective note taking, academic vocabulary, and speaking functions common in academic settings while using computer technology as a learning medium. Participation, word processing, email, and use of interactive software required. Textbook information:                      Key Concepts 2 - Listening, Note taking, and Speaking Across the Disciplines, by E. Vestri Solomon and J. Shelley, Thomson Heinle 2006 To purchase textbooks:                      You may go to the publisher's site http://elt.heinle.com (the textbook offers online practice exercises for students.) OR amazon.com Contact Person:                      Lead Faculty in the ESOL program	Course Description:                      Academic Reading Skills is designed to prepare advanced level non-native speakers of English for academic success. Emphasis is on developing reading strategies and skills, including critical reading and vocabulary for efficient processing of general academic texts. Basic skills Reading Level 5 granted upon successful completion of this course. Textbook information:                      Quest 3 Reading and Writing, 2nd edition, by P. Hartman and L. Bass, McGraw Hill 2007 To purchase textbooks:                      You may go to the publisher's site http://www.elt.mcgraw-hill.com/a/Writing/w_grw.shtml (Publisher's site; no student practice available OR amazon.com Contact Person:                      Lead Faculty in the ESOL program	Course Description:                      Designed to help students improve their writing in preparation for transfer-level academic courses. Students who earn exit competency of 2.5 will have writing skill level of 6 and be able to take other college level courses. Textbook information:                      Mercury Reader 2008 Writing Essays: Audience, Purpose and Audience To purchase textbooks:                      You may go to amazon.com Contact Person:                      Lead Faculty in the Writing program	Course Description:                      Explores the various forms of personal writing (diaries, journals, letters, personal narratives, and autobiography) through written exercises and selected readings. The student's observations and life experiences are the focus of written assignments. Emphasizes language, style, and tone appropriate to the different forms of personal writing. Textbook information:                      100 Ways To Improve Your Writing, by Gary Provost. Mentor/Penguin Books New York, Auckland: 1985 (Paperback cost: approximately $8.00 U.S.) Contact Person:                      Dale Herder, herderd@lcc.edu

*ESOL – English for Speakers of Other Languages

FALL 2010:

ESOL 119 “Academic Communication Skills” (4 credits, CRN 72762) For pre-college level ESOL students. Pre-requisite: minimum 2.5 in ESOL 090 or ESOL 095 or Placement Test or Department Approval.

ESOL 120 “Academic Reading Skills” (4 credits, CRN 72578) Designed to prepare advanced level non-native speakers of English for academic success. Pre-requisite: minimum 3.0 in ESOL 110 (previously ESLP 110) or Reading Level 4.

For more information, please go to www.lcc.edu or contact the Language Skills and Student Development Department directly at Language Skills and Student Development, Lansing Community College, PO Box 40010, Lansing, MI 48901-7210, USA Phone: 517.483.1062; Fax: 517.483.1877