LCC BCI DIRECTOR APPOINTED TO NATIONAL CONTINUING EDUCATION & TRAINING BOARD

Bo Garcia, Executive Director of the Business and Community Institute (BCI) at Lansing Community College and Vice-President of the Michigan Association for Continuing Education and Training (MACET), has been appointed to the National Council for Continuing Education and Training (NCCET) Board of Directors, representing the Great Lakes Region. NCCET is the parent organization of MACET.

“This is the first time in many years that Michigan will have a seat on the board and I cannot think of a better representative than Bo Garcia,” said Stephanie Shanblatt, LCC Provost. “Bo’s energy, enthusiasm, and knowledge of workforce development will definitely be an asset to the national organization.”

Garcia, a 16-year LCC employee, has served LCC as Regional Consultant with the MI Small Business and Technology Development Center (SBTDC); SBTDC Director; and Director of Strategic Planning and Economic Development. Prior to his LCC career he served as Executive Director of the Greater Lansing Hispanic Chamber of Commerce. His degrees include an MBA from Michigan State University and a master’s degree in Public Administration.

Garcia will also launch a regional blog site on the NCCET website. You can visit the NCCET website at: www.nccet.org.
