Traditional Dual Enrollment Frequently Asked Questions

ARR Responsible:

1. Payment Authorization
   a. How do I give my parents/guardians permission to pay my account?
      i. Due to FERPA, in order for your parents/guardians to be able to pay on your account, you would need to complete a Release of Information form online.

2. FERPA/Release of Information Form
   a. What is FERPA?
      i. FERPA stands for The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974. FERPA is what protects a student’s privacy and prohibits the dispersing of student information to those other than the student themselves without student authorization. For more information, enter FERPA in the search box on the LCC homepage, lcc.edu. Select Resources for Parents – Lansing Community College. Click on FERPA (Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act).

      ii. Do my parents/guardians have access to my LCC records?
          1. Parents/guardians do not have access to your LCC records. Parents/guardians can have access to your records, but only if you allow it by completing a Release of Information form on our website. This form gives your parent/guardian permission to call or come in person to ask questions about your account, but are still not able to log in as you, as only the student is allowed to know their username and password.

      iii. Can my parents inquire about my grades, attendance or other information?
          1. If there is a Release of Information on file, then your parents or guardians can ask about your final grades, but not your in progress grades or your attendance. LCC is not officially an attendance taking institution, so we do not keep a detailed record of your attendance. In progress grades can only be seen by the teacher and the student. As LCC does not offer parent/guardian teacher conferences, there is not a way for them to obtain information about your in progress grades.

3. Dual Enrollment Form – why every semester?
   a. Why do I need to turn in a new dual enrollment approval form every semester?
      i. On the form, depending on what type of dual enrolled student the student is, the school must identify what classes have been authorized and what ones they will pay for. Due to billing authorization limitations, we are only able to have charges for one semester at a time. As such, the form needs to be submitted for each semester to reveal which classes have been authorized to be billed to the school.
